ROBIT'S OUTLOOK FOR 2021

Robit expects the market situation to remain strong. Demand in the mining segment is supported by the positive development in metal prices. Demand in the construction industry is supported by the good work situation in the construction market areas that are relevant to Robit and the significant financing decided globally for the construction industry. The company expects COVID-19 restrictions to have a limited impact on the demand of Robit's products in 2021.

Demand in the mining industry is high in 2021. Demand for consumable parts across cycles is more stable in relation to investment products. The positive development of mineral prices and bright outlook are reflected in the research drilling activities that are developing well. Prospection drilling is a cyclical part of the industry, reflecting the mining industry's willingness to invest in future capacity increases. The company has good growth potential in the mining segment.

The construction industry is always locally cyclical, and the market situation can change rapidly. The prospects of Robit's customers are good, and projects related to infrastructure construction that are ongoing or to be launched in 2021 support the prospects for the end of the year.

GUIDANCE FOR 2021

Robit updated its financial guidance for 2021 on 22 October 2021.

New guidance

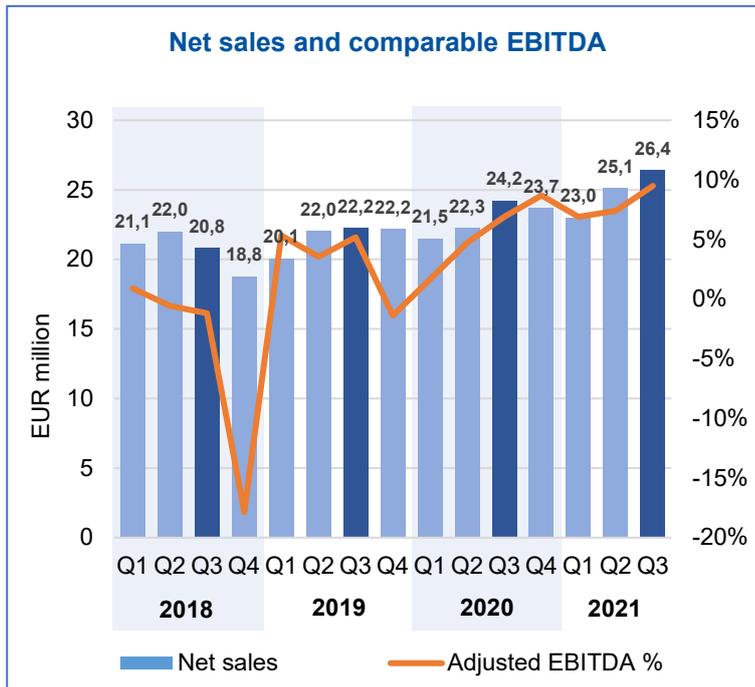

Robit Plc expects the market situation to remain on a good level in the end of the year. The company estimates that net sales for 2021 will grow and comparable EBITDA profitability in euros will improve as follows: net sales being between EUR 97.0–101.0 million and comparable EBITDA profitability being at least EUR 7.0 million, assuming that exchange rates remain on the level of September 2021.

Previous guidance

Robit expects the market situation to develop positively and believes COVID-19 restrictions to have had a limited impact on the demand of Robit's products in 2021. Robit estimates that net sales for 2021 will grow and comparable EBITDA profitability in euros will improve compared with 2020.

CEO TOMMI LEHTONEN:

We achieved record net sales in the third quarter and, at the same time, took a step towards our long-term profitability targets. The quarter was the tenth in a row where we grew on the corresponding period. The growth in the quarter was mainly realised in the mining segment. The actions related to the sales margin improvement supported the development of profitability. The number of project deliveries decreased compared to the strong corresponding period. Overall, customer demand for Robit's offering remained at a good level. The shortage of sea freight capacity posed challenges in terms of supply. We have been ensuring product availability and customer satisfaction by growing our stock levels, advancing investments and raw material purchases as well as strengthening the ability of the supply chain.

Net sales for the third quarter of the year totalled EUR 26.4 million (EUR 24.2 million). There was an increase of 8.9% compared to the corresponding period and an increase of 5.9% in constant currencies. The EBITDA was EUR 2.5 million, up 51% on the corresponding period. Orders received totalled EUR 25.6 million. There was an increase of 4.6% compared to the corresponding period.

Growth in the quarter was driven by the Americas market area. North America's share of sales increased significantly, and the development was positive in all customer segments. In South America, we got back on the growth track and saw progress in the mining segment in particular. Development in the EMEA market area varied from country to country but, overall, the quarter saw a moment of slower growth. The growth potential in the market area is good. In the Asia market area, the situation improved as the challenges posed by the pandemic eased after a challenging early part of the year. We were unsatisfied with the development in Australasia. We will strengthen our sales resources in Australasia. In East market areas net sales dropped. In the area there were significant project deliveries during the corresponding period.

The development of the Top Hammer business in the mining segment was in line with the target setting. We succeeded in improving the Top Hammer delivery capacity, and the availability-related challenges eased off compared to the early part of the year. The outlook for growth in the Top Hammer offering remains bright. The Down the Hole business grew less than expected, because there were no significant project deliveries during the review period. Work to develop the Down the Hole business in the mining segment continues on a systematic basis, and we started deliveries to a new significant mining customer in the Americas market area, for instance.

In the third quarter, we started a project that creates new and common operating methods for factories to support continuous development towards strategic goals in terms of service and competitiveness. At the same time, practices that support the management of working capital will be strengthened. We also invested in a software that strengthens Robit's inventory and availability management. We also invested in strengthening competence in this area.

Actions related to the sales margin improvement projects paid off in the third quarter of the year. The strengthening of the margin was the main driver behind the improved profitability in the quarter. Fixed costs also remained well under control as planned, although travel and trade fair costs increased compared to the early part of the year as the world opened up.

In the third quarter, we carried out a significant amount of training for our own personnel and distributors. The training particularly focused on the skills of advisory sales, where the goal is to create the abilities to help customers make choices and operate in ways that reduce overall costs and improve energy efficiency.

Robit implemented a thorough ESG account project and launched an ESG roadmap as well as targets in the Capital Markets Day on 23 September 2021. The roadmap focuses on four main key themes: sustainable partnerships, CO2 emission reduction in value chain, healthy and happy workplace and efficiency throughout the product lifecycle.

Net sales also grew in the EMEA and Asia market areas. In Australasia, net sales decreased by 4.1% due to the timing of the largest customer deliveries. The East market area was clearly left behind the exceptionally strong corresponding quarter. There were significant project deliveries during the corresponding period.

In January–September, the company's growth was especially driven by the Americas and EMEA market areas. In the East market area, low project activity in the Geotechnical segment was reflected in declining net sales. Other segments in the East market area increased. Net sales in the Asia area fell by 11.2% due to the low demand in the early part of the year.

RISKS AND BUSINESS UNCERTAINTIES

Robit closely monitors the impact of COVID-19 on demand in the sector. In general, customer activities have returned to normal levels. The effects on Robit's operations are limited and only affect individual countries or market areas. COVID-19 still restricts traveling and thus, implementation of some growth projects related to testing and sales. Robit will continue actions to protect the health of its personnel and to ensure the continuity of the company's operations. At the time of reporting, all of the company's factories were operating at planned capacity. No disruptions in the supply chain have been identified that cannot be managed, for example, with current inventory levels and supplier cooperation.

Other uncertainty factors include exchange rate development, the functioning and commissioning of new information systems, integration of corporate acquisitions, risks related to security of supply and logistics, and IPR risks. Fully transferring the increase in raw material costs to customer prices may pose a financial risk. Changes in export countries' tax and customs legislation may adversely impact the company's export trade or its profitability. Risks related to information security and cyber threats may also have a detrimental effect on Robit's business. Potential changes in the business environment may adversely impact the payment behaviour of the Group's customers and increase the risk of litigation, legal claims and disputes related to Robit's products and other operations.

CHANGES IN GROUP STRUCTURE

There were no changes in the Group structure during the review period.

2.2 CONSOLIDATING ALTERNATIVE KEY FIGURES

Robit presents alternative key figures to supplement the key figures given in the Group's income statements, balance sheets and cash flow statements that have been drawn up according to IFRS standards. Robit considers that the alternative figures give significant extra insight into the result of Robit's operations, its financial position and cash flows. These figures are often used by analysts, investors and other parties.

Alternative key figures should not be studied apart from the key figures according to IFRS or instead of them. Not all companies calculate their alternative key figures in the same way, so Robit's alternative figures may not be directly comparable to those presented by other companies, even if they carry the same headings.

7. ACQUISITIONS

There were no changes in the Group structure during the review period.

8. DERIVATIVES

The company hedges the most significant net currency positions that can be predicted in terms of time, volume and interest rate risk.

There were no open currency derivatives at the end of the review period.

On 8 June, the company entered into a financing agreement of EUR 30.0 million and, in connection with this, an interest rate swap of EUR 10.0 million with an interest rate cap in order to hedge part of its exposure to fluctuating interest rates. The company applies hedge accounting in accordance with IFRS 9. Hedge accounting is used to eliminate the accounting difference between the hedging instrument and the hedged item. This effectively leads to the recording of interest expenses on a hedged floating rate loan at a fixed rate.

The company's main interest rate risk arises from long-term borrowings with variable rates, which exposes the group to cash flow interest rate risk. Group policy is to use interest rate swaps from floating to fixed interest rate when necessary.

The group has the following derivative financial instruments in the following line items in the balance sheet:
